The speakers:

Tim Guilford is an experienced senior leader in school, languages teacher, trainer, senior examiner and author. He was an Ofqual consultant for the revised A Levels in languages and is also co-author of several Spanish textbooks. Tim was also accreditation lead for the new CCEA GCSE in Northern Ireland. Tim has his own consultancy company (All About Educational Ltd) which provides CPD and in-house INSET in the UK and abroad. He has worked on international education / development projects in France, Switzerland, Kazakhstan, Hong Kong and the Caribbean, as well as the British Council's Connecting Classrooms project.

Karine Harrington has many years' experience as a language teacher, examiner and trainer. She is currently teaching part-time in a school in Essex and is the MFL Subject Leader in Education for her Teaching Alliance. Alongside her teaching, Karine is one of the Subject Specialists for Pearson Edexcel, delivering training and supporting teachers on the new GCSE and A-level specifications. Karine has also, in recent years, authored a number of MFL publications such as revision guides for Collins, the latest Hodder French textbook for the new Edexcel A-level Specification and A-level Film and Literature guides (Hodder).
